

Healthy Waterway Heroes

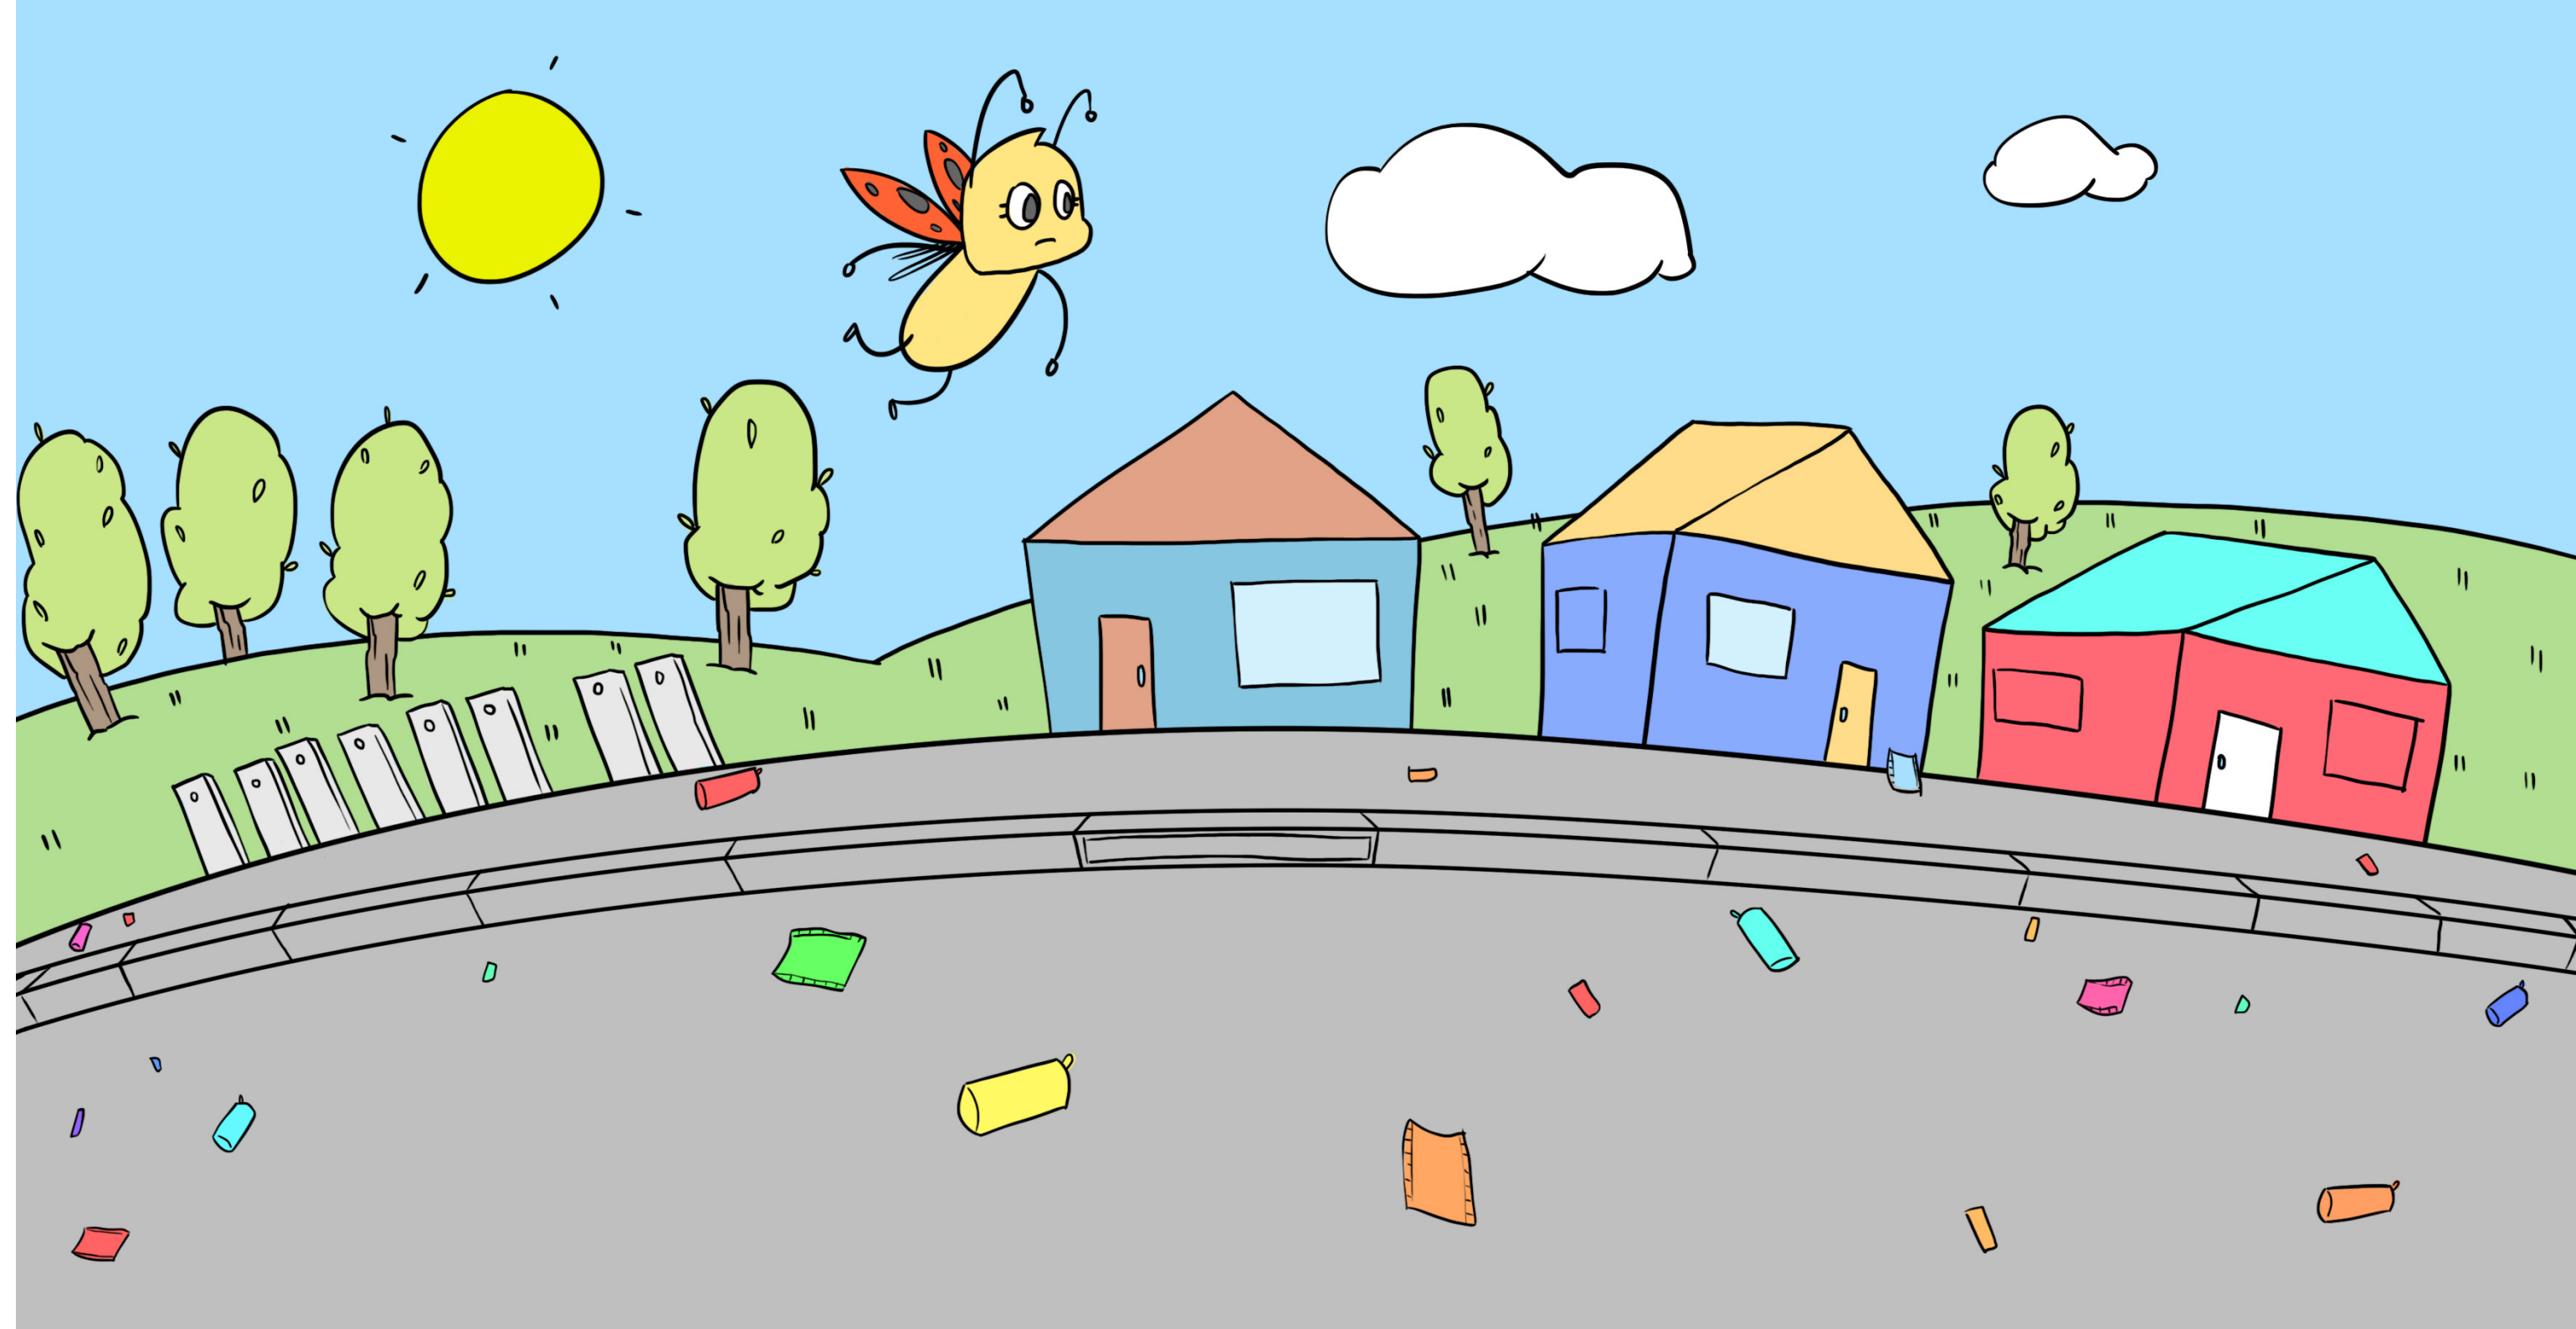

Early one morning, a lady bug named Lily woke up yawning.

It was a bright and sunny day so Lily got ready to go exploring.

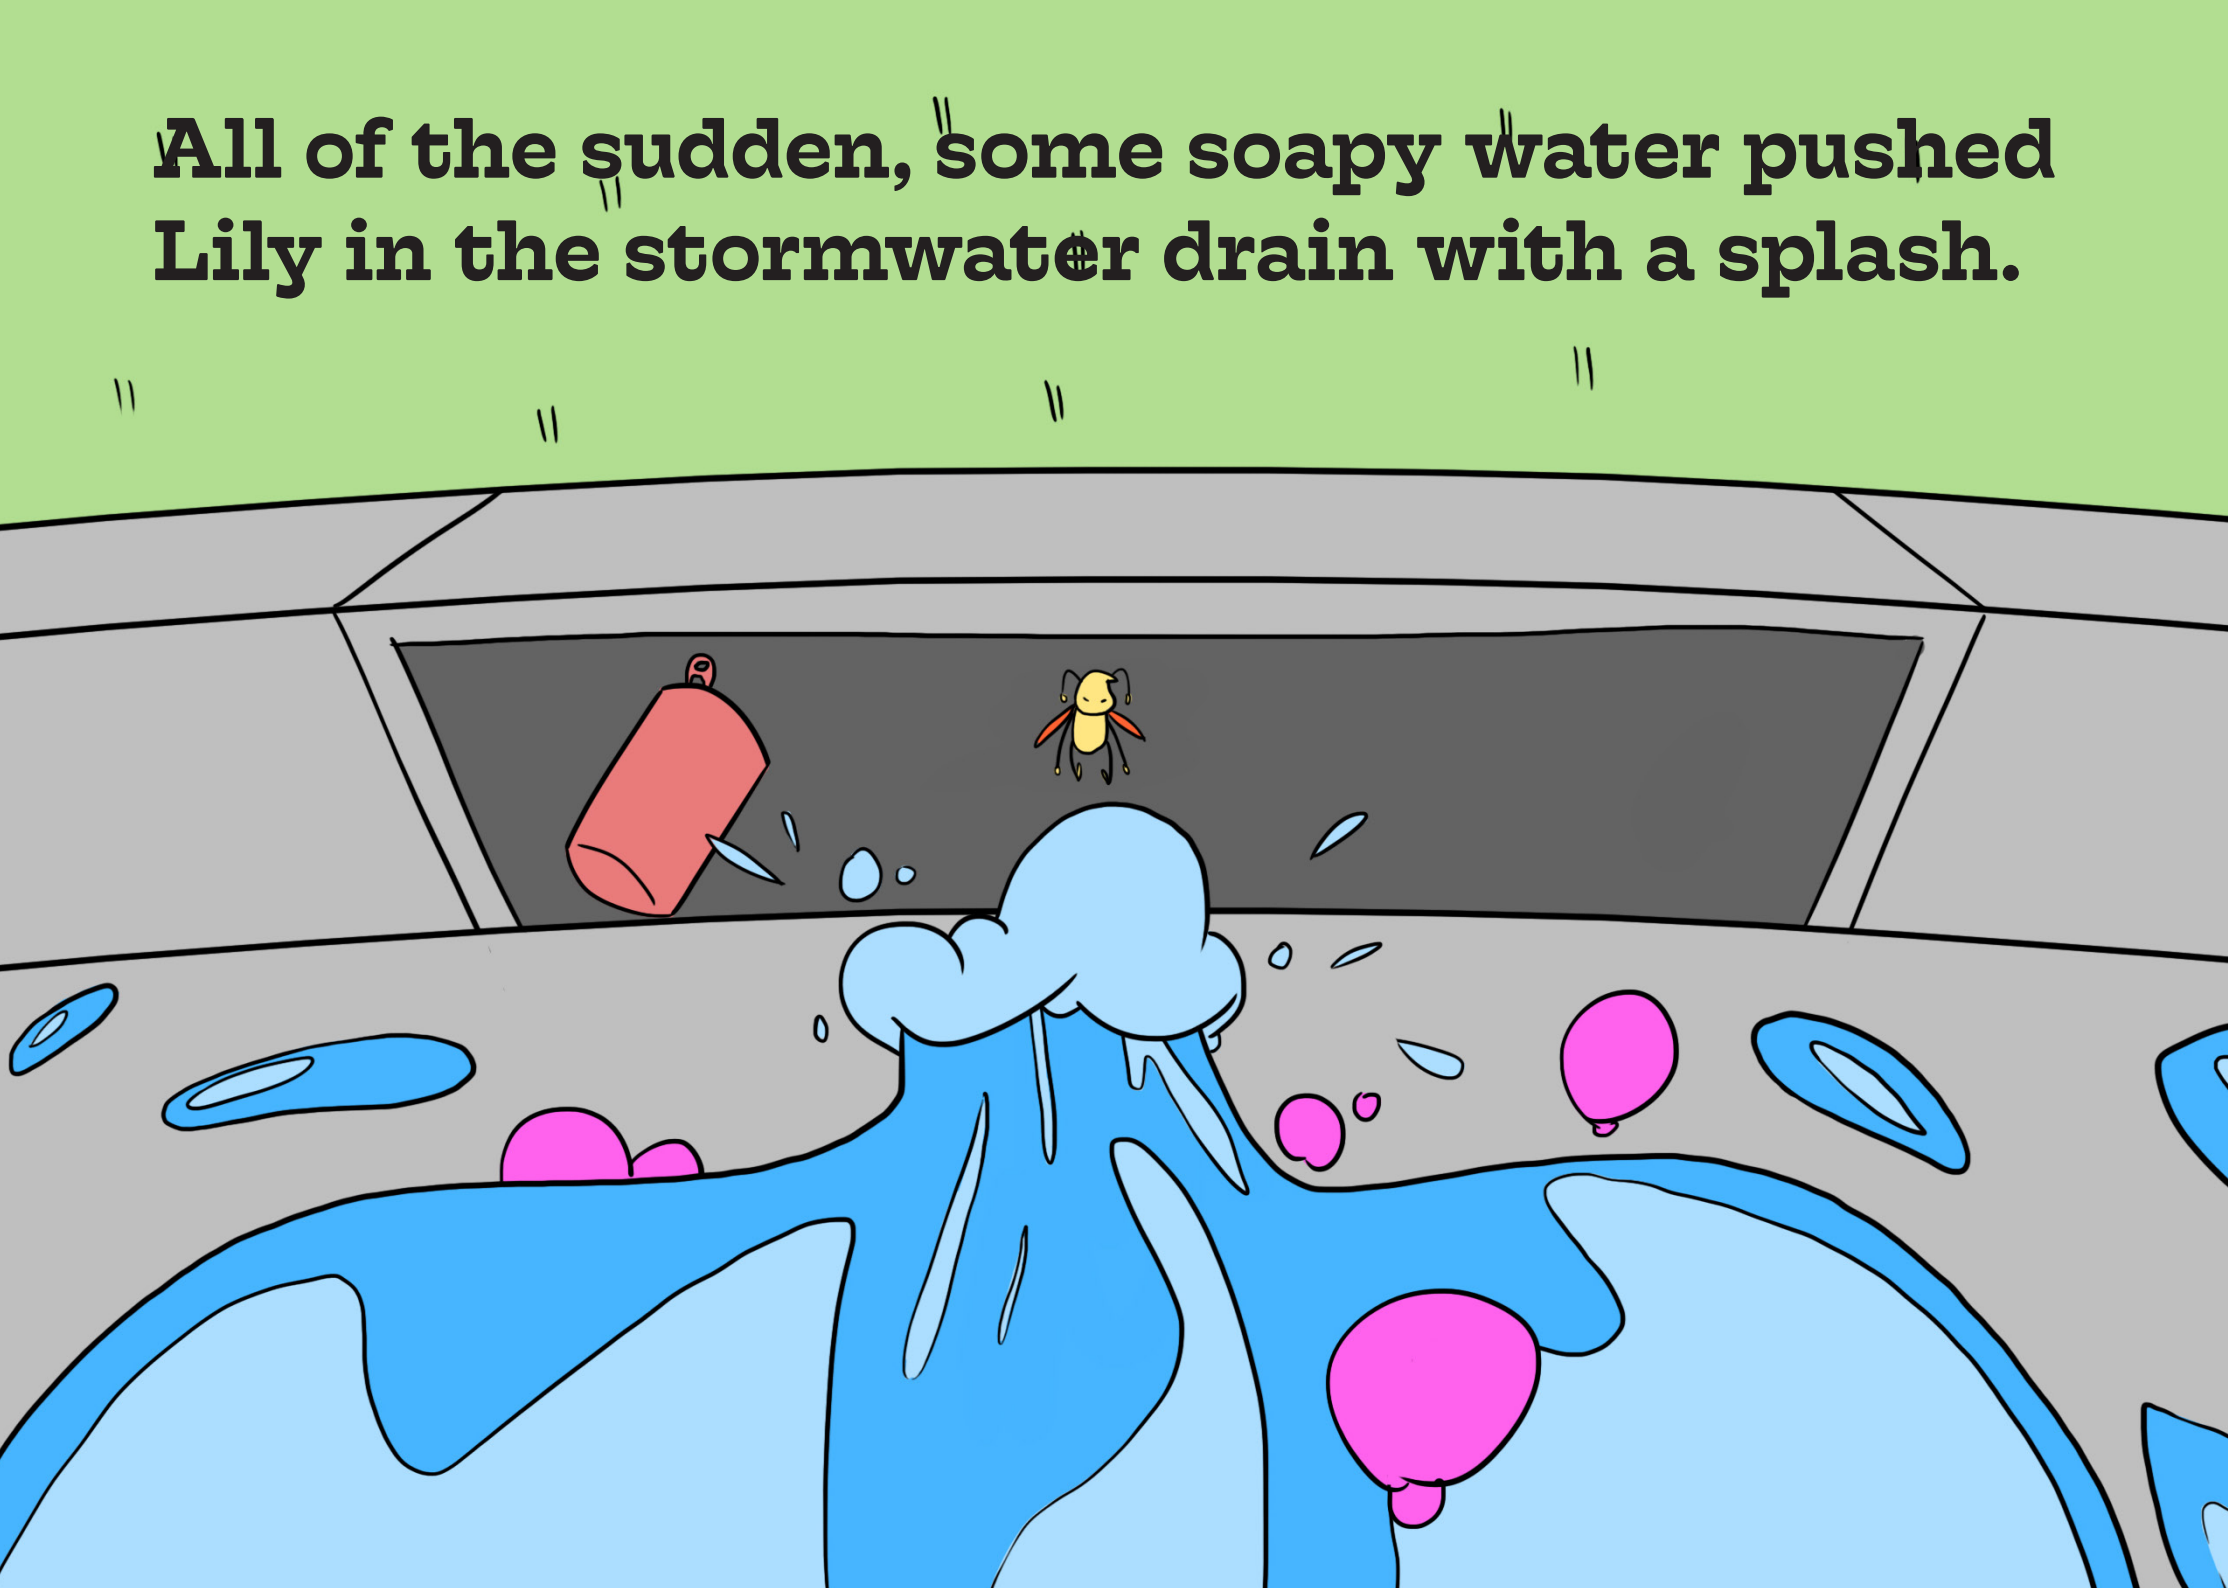

Lily noticed rubbish everywhere and began to wonder why people had forgotten about cleaning.

Lily gasped, “What would happen if the rubbish went from the street into the stormwater drain?”

All of the sudden, some soapy water pushed Lily in the stormwater drain with a splash.

Lily opened her eyes and was greeted by a wall of old soapy bubbles.

To get out of this trouble, Lily knew what needed to be done.

After defeating the bubbles Lily's next challenge was food wrappers, bottles and cans. Lily rolled up her sleeves and got to work removing all of the clutter.

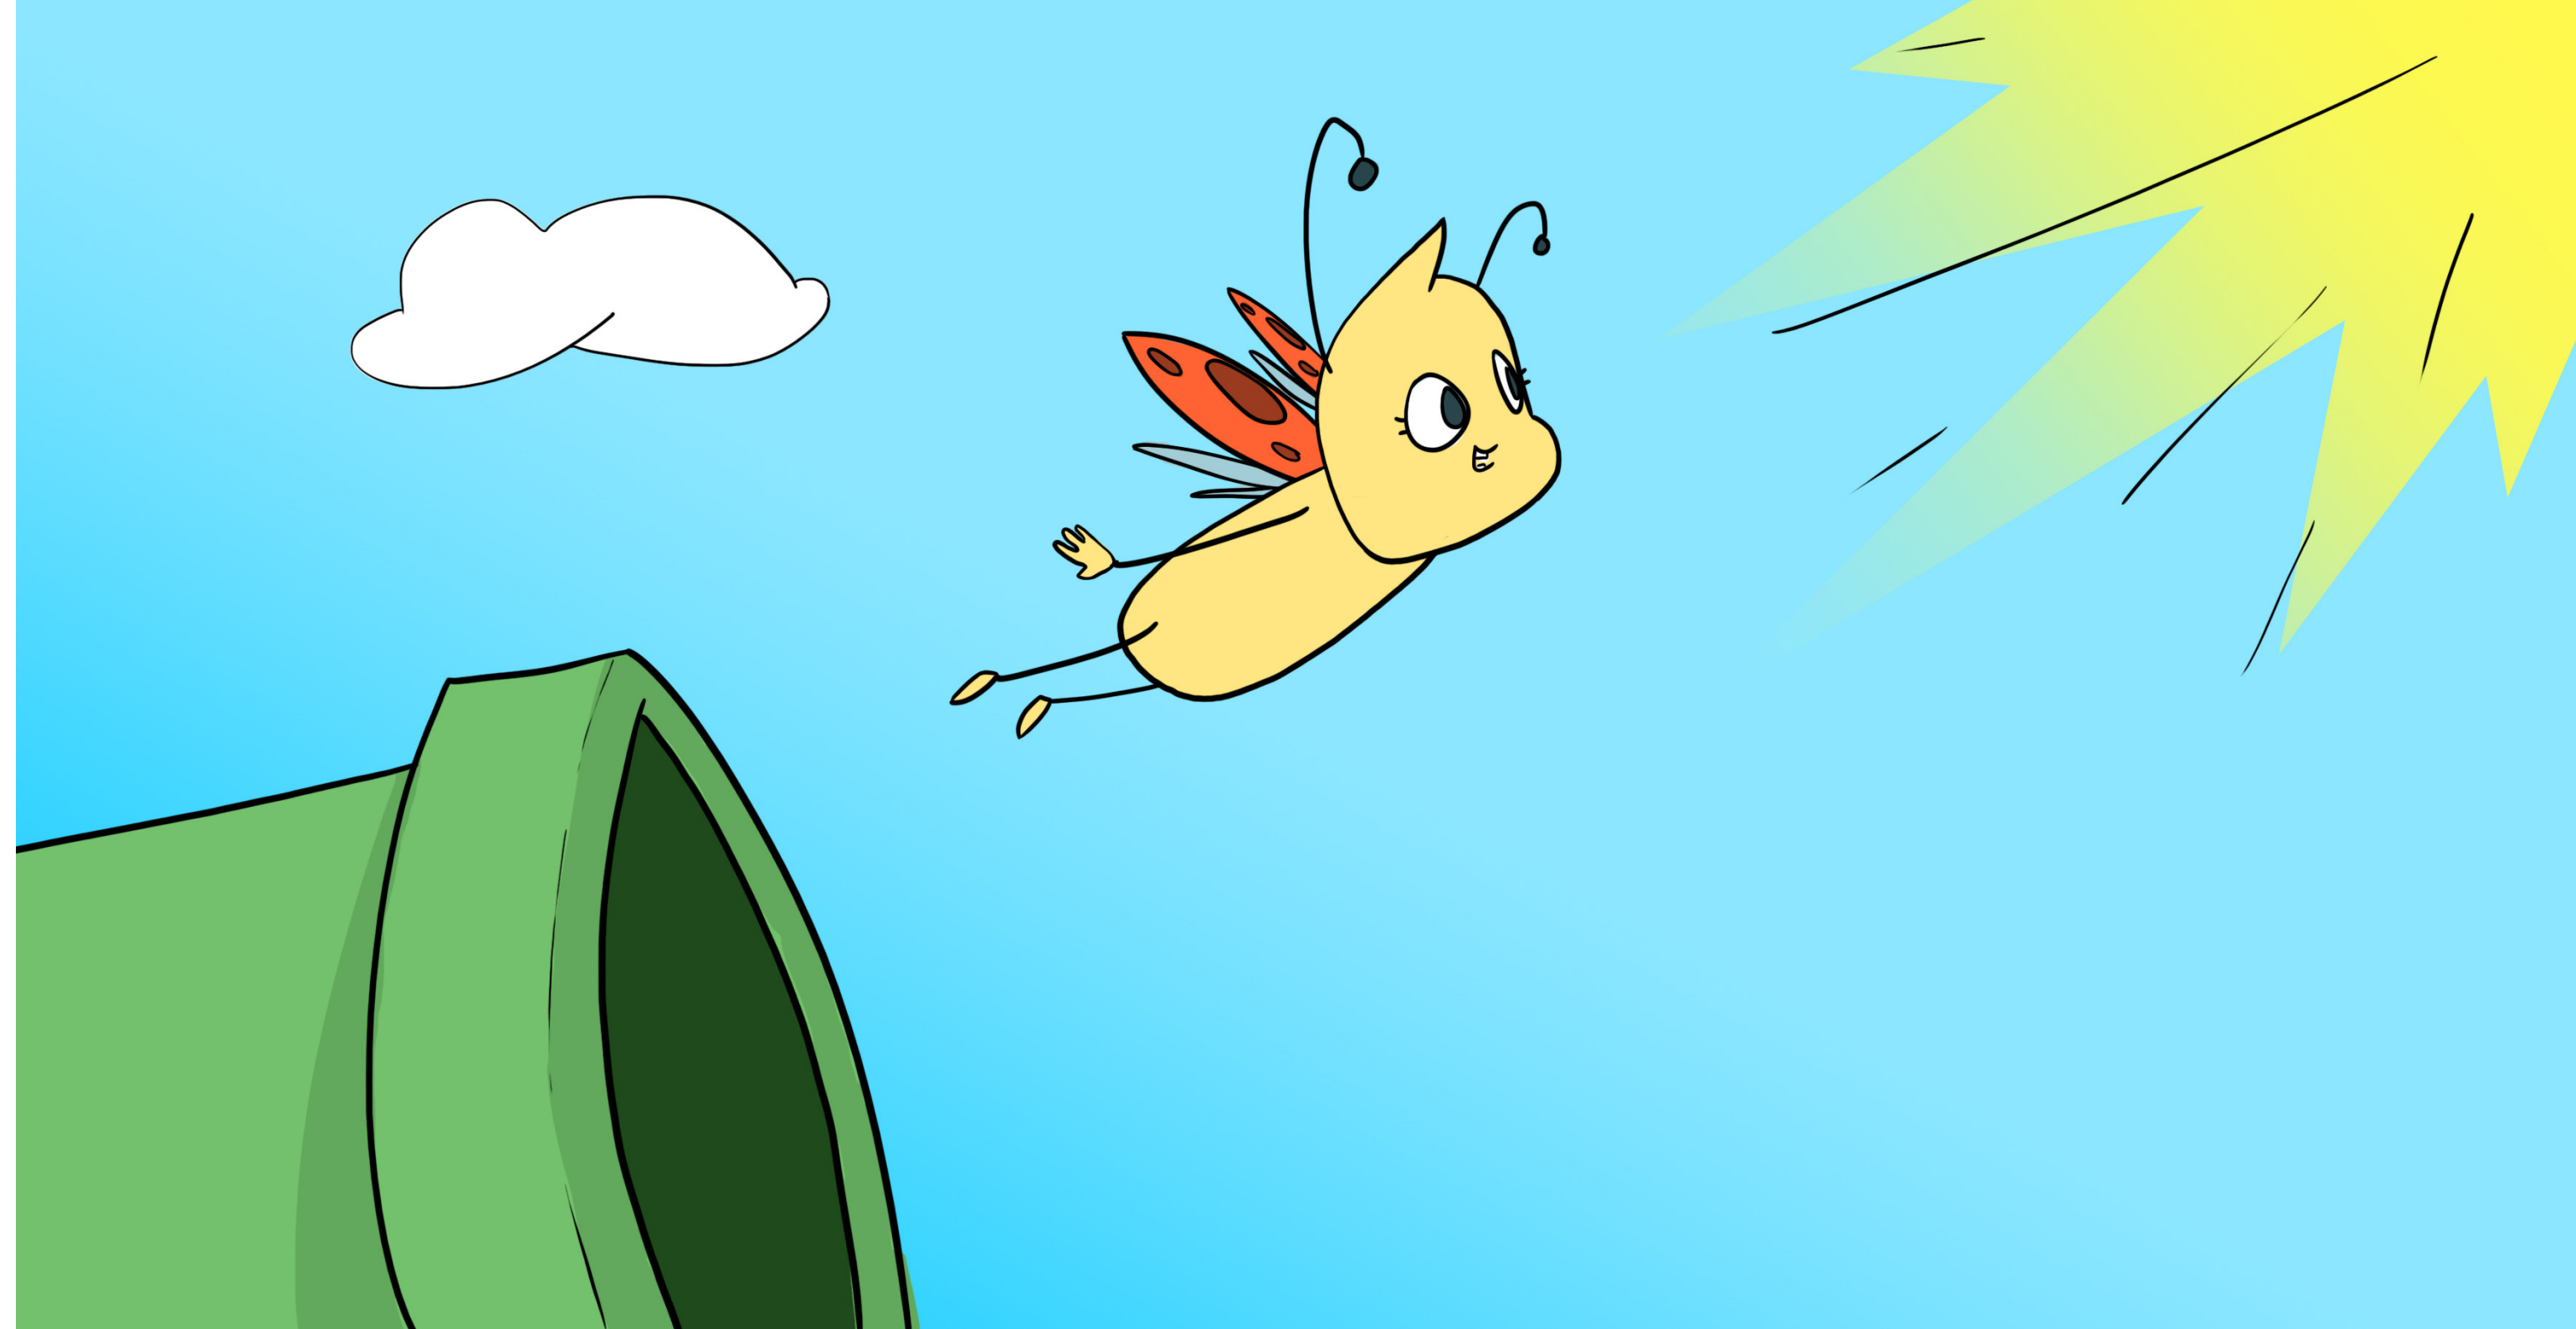

Then Lily saw some old garden waste to remove with her hands.

She burrowed in deep and pulled with all her might.

After clearing the stormwater drain, Lily flew out into the light.

Lily had been here before.

She looked around and saw that the plants and wildlife looked sad and were covered in rubbish.

Looking sickly and sad a RiverRed Gum named
Harry begun to speak.

“Hello Lily, I’m glad you’re here. I need your help to make the plants and wildlife happy and healthy again!”

Then Harry passed Lily
a special wand.

“We want people to remember to do the right thing and use a bin. Maybe you can tell your friends for us?”

“When you wash the car, the soapy water can be poured down the sink or used to give your garden a nice big drink.”

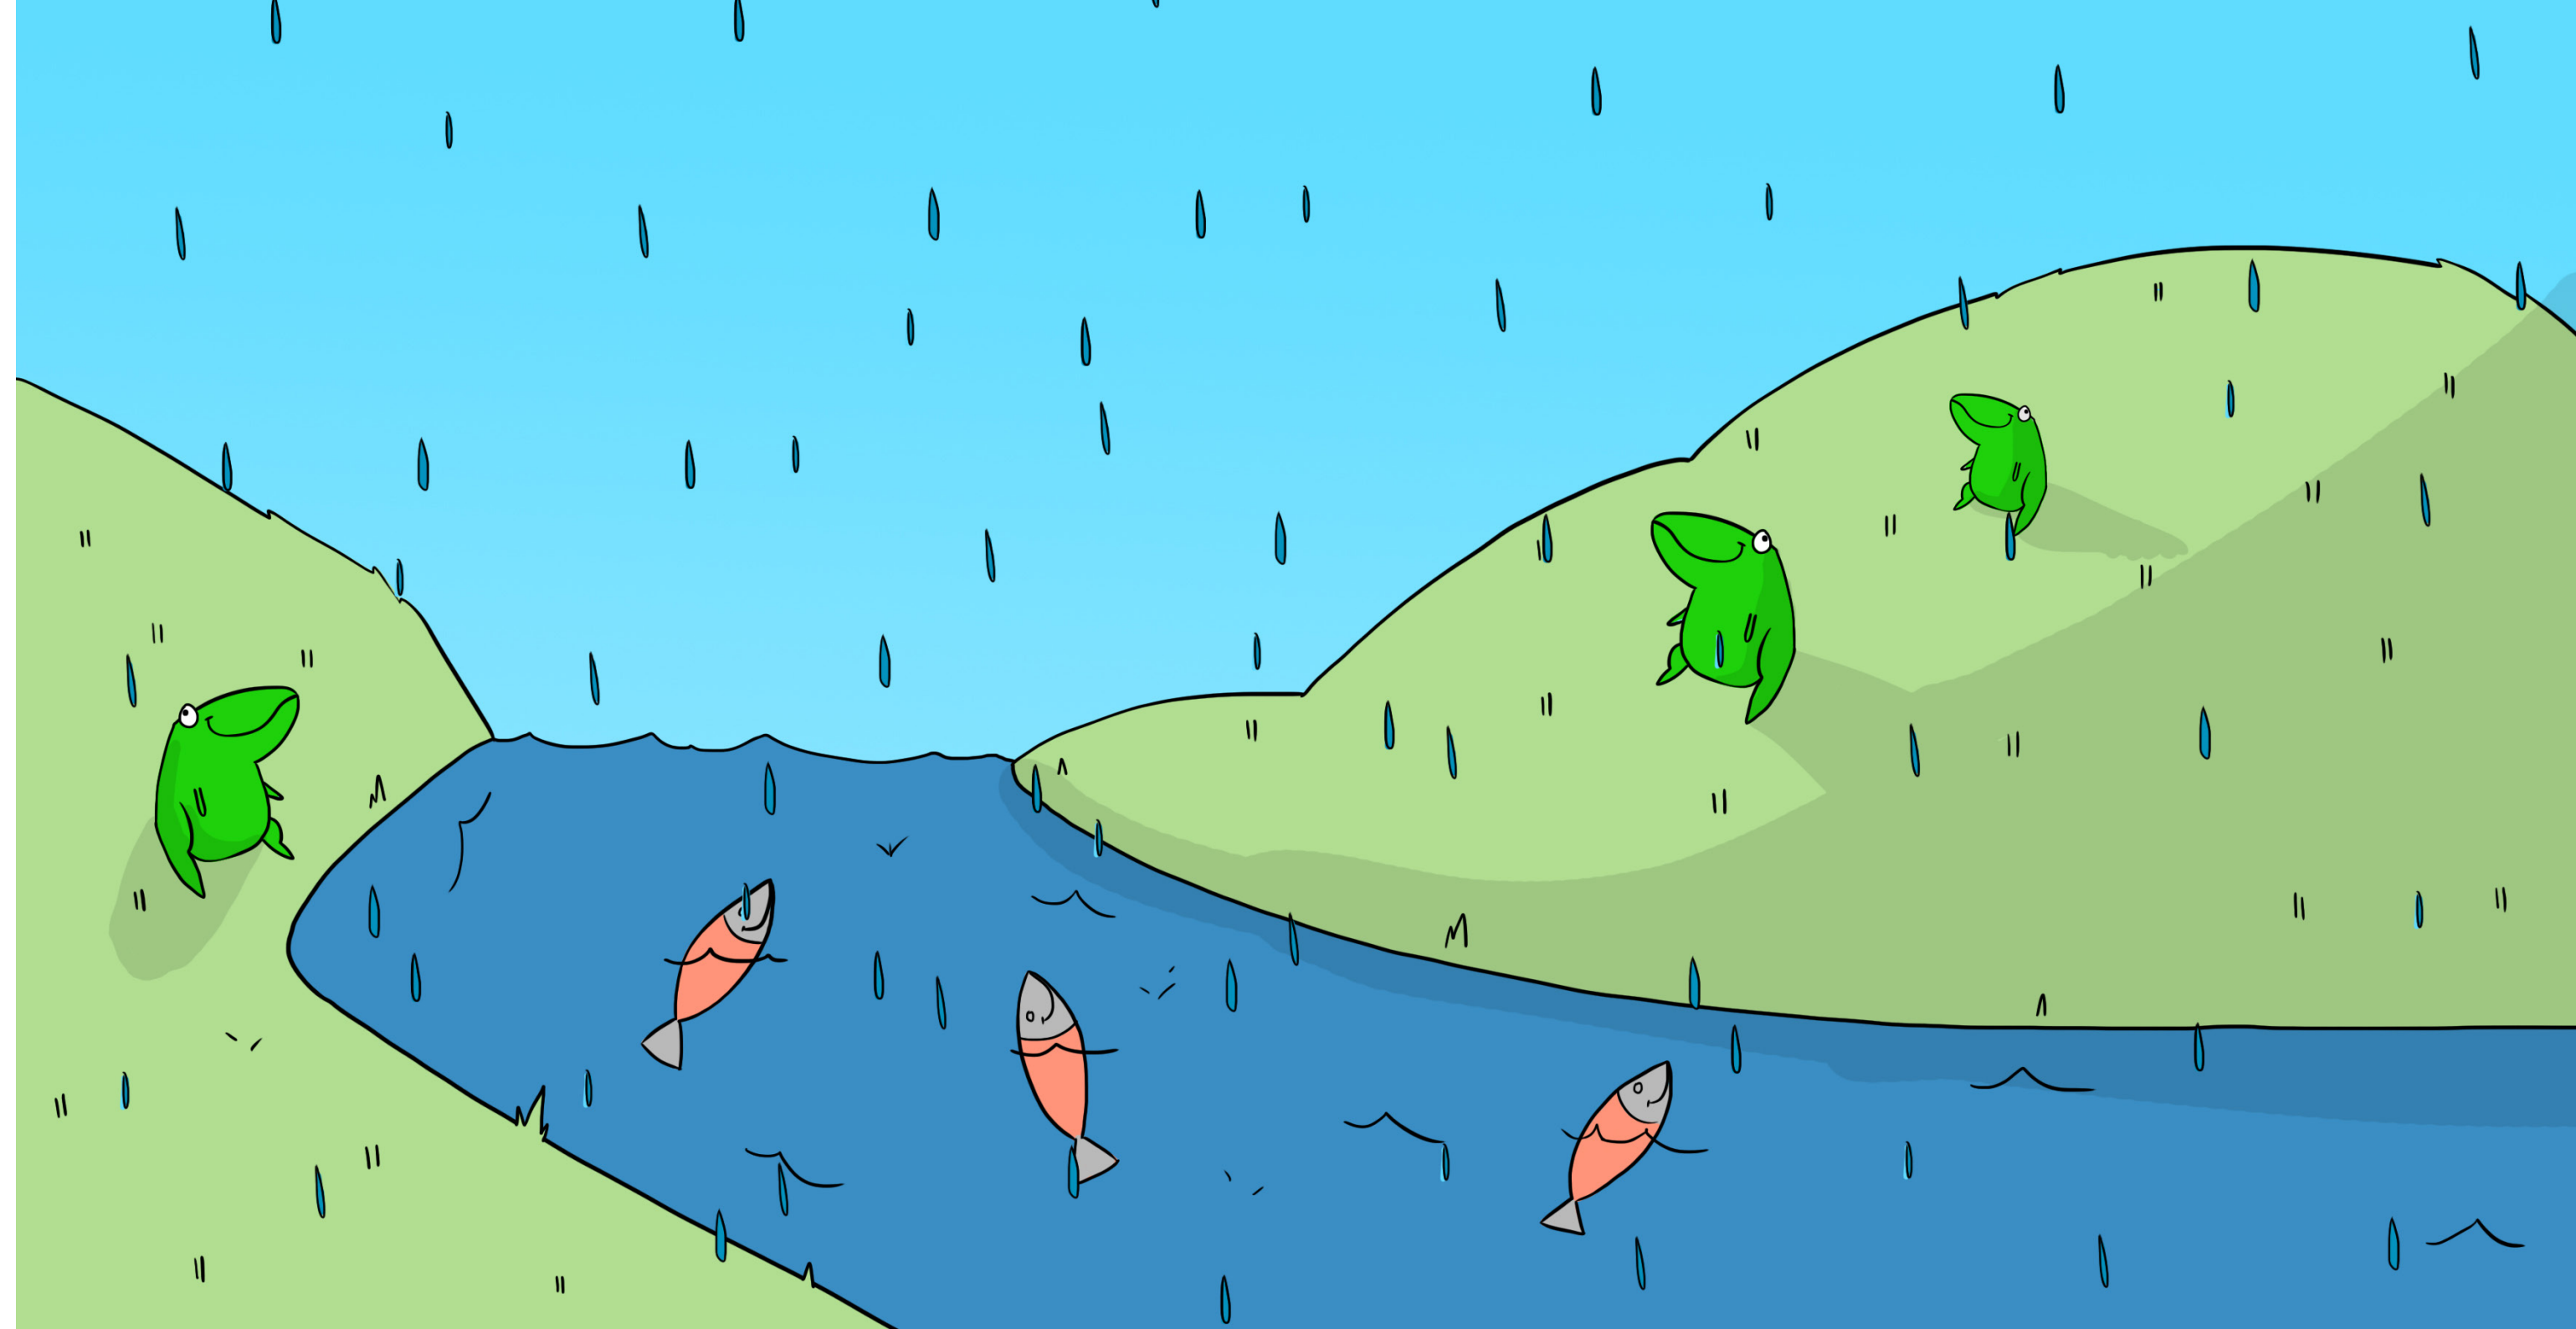

“Remember to sweep your driveway, collect the leaves and put them into your green lidded bin. Flowers, twigs and many garden things can also go straight into this bin.”

“Make sure that you never throw your waste on the ground. All it takes is a little rain to wash this litter into the stormwater drain.”

“The water that you see when it rains is all that should go down the stormwater drains.

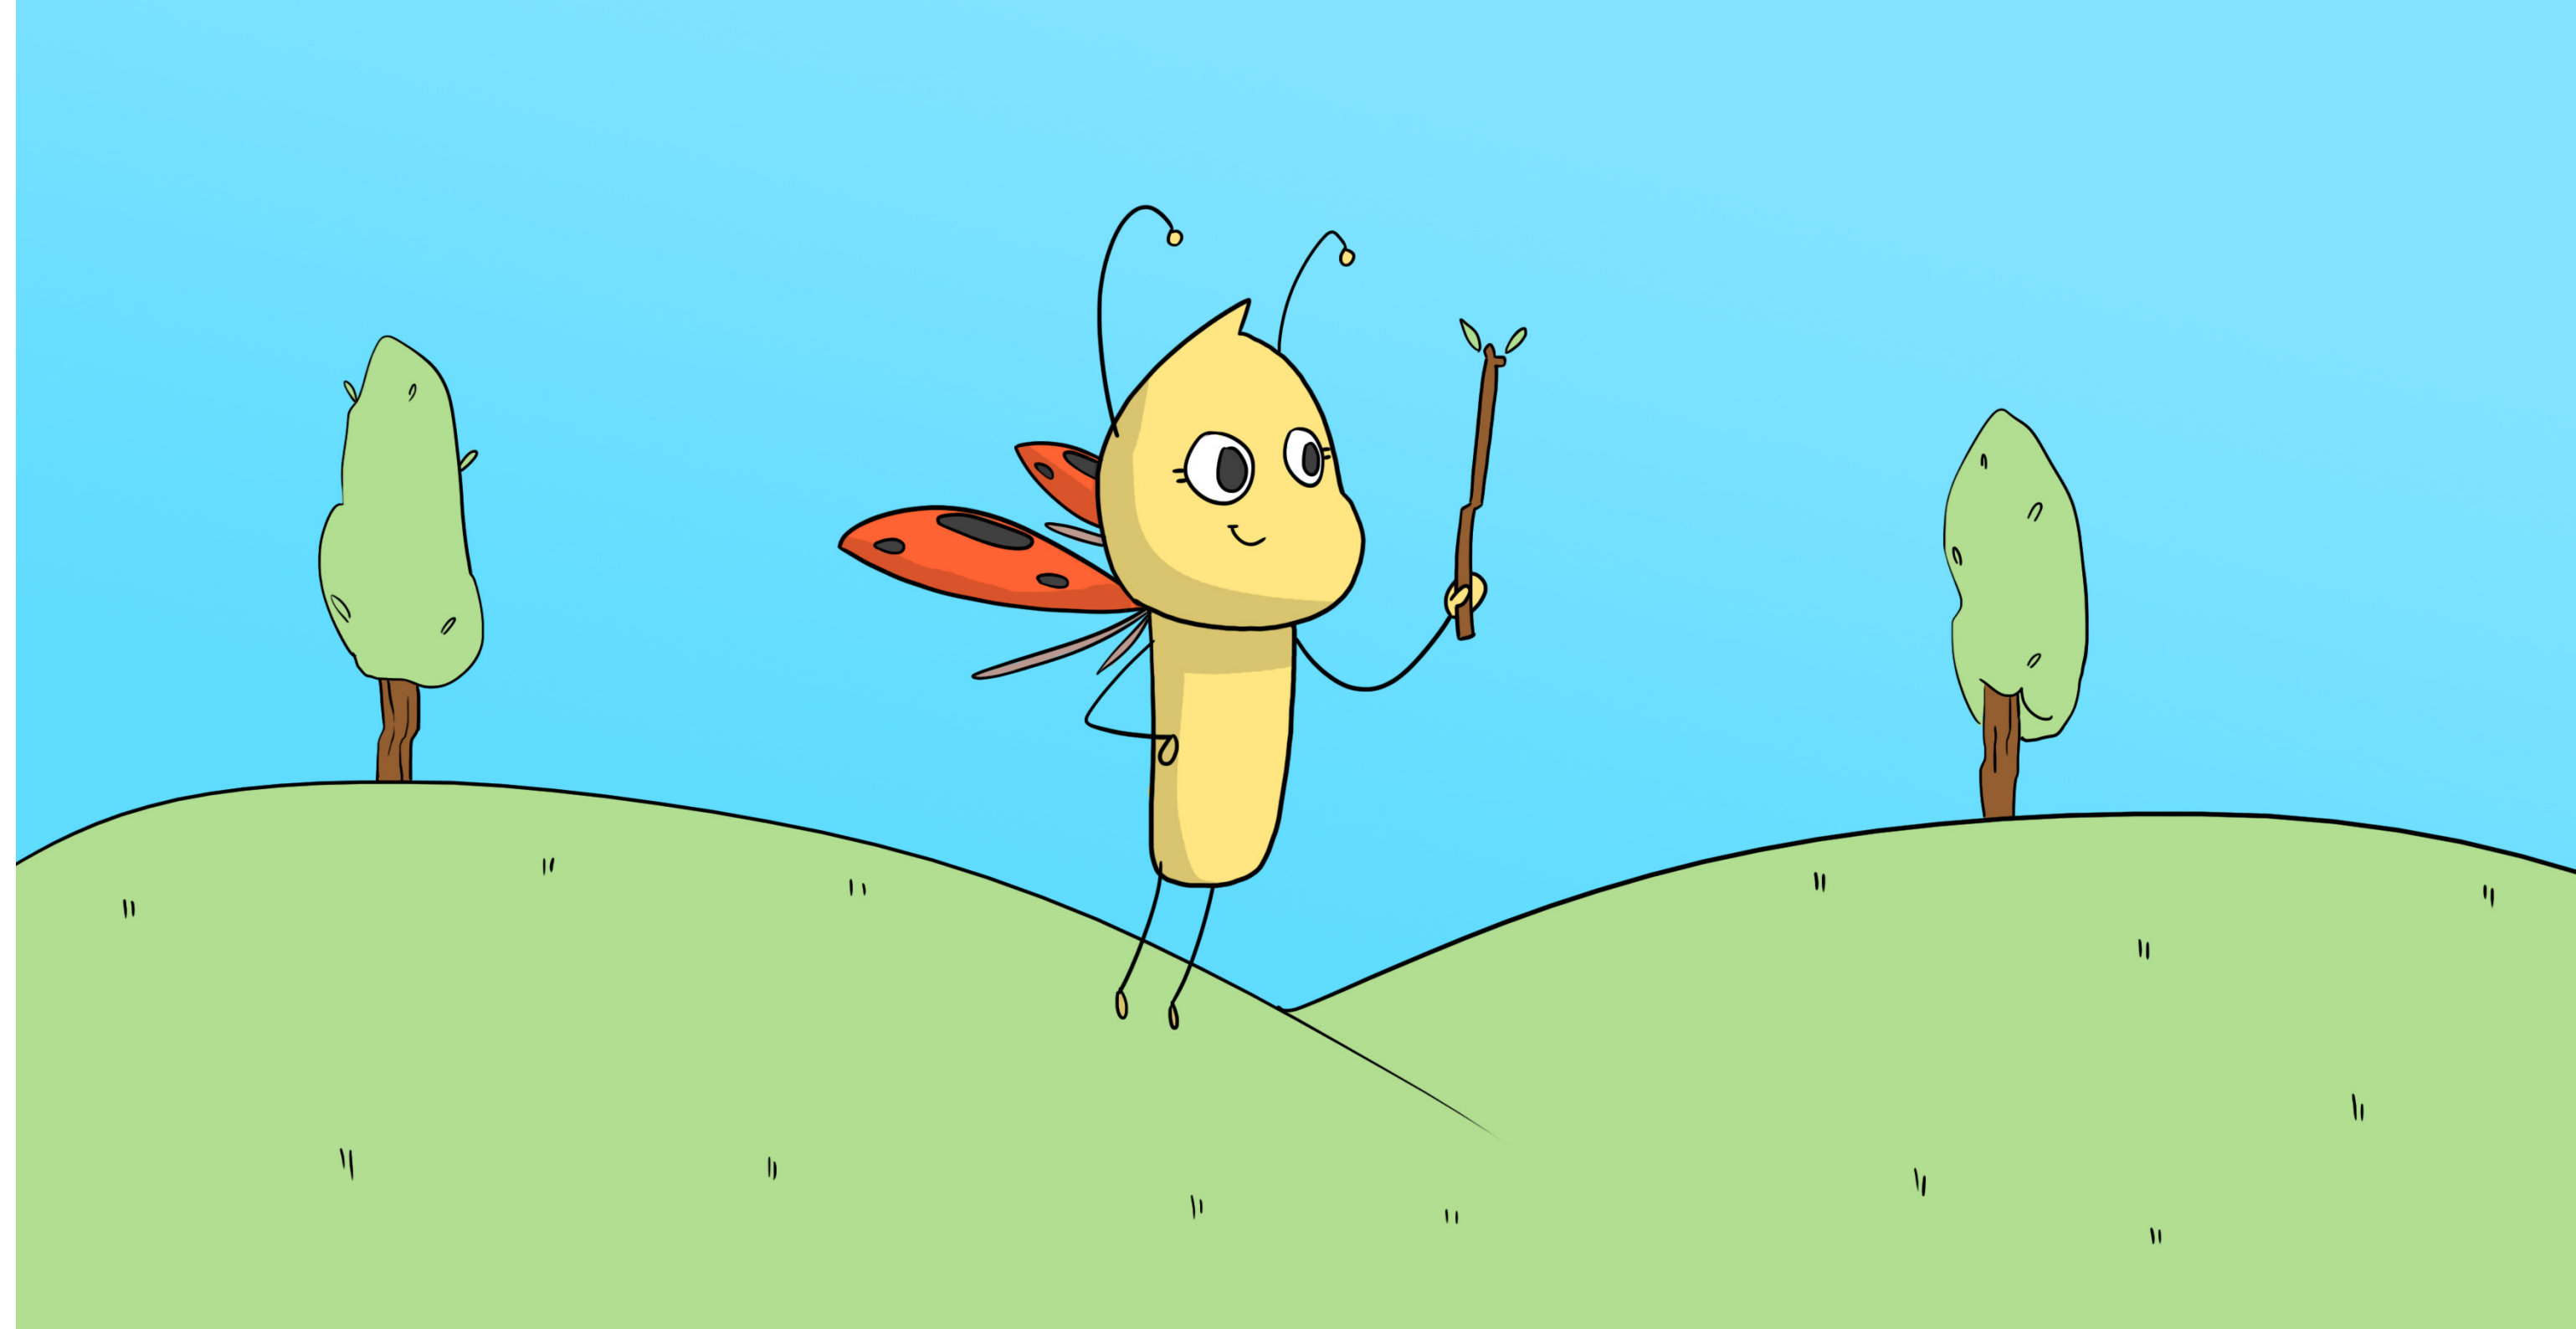

Animals live in our rivers and bays, this is why we need clean waterways.”

With this new knowledge, Lily can help the environment much quicker.

She is no longer just Lily.

She is now Lily Litter.

You don't need a wand to do the right thing.
To stop litter where it starts, use a bin and help Lily keep our city clean.
